Student Services

There's no denying these are incredibly strange times. Thank you all so much for your patience and understanding while we've continued to navigate the various issues the recent pandemic has presented. While doors closed across the state and country, we adjusted, evolved, and persevered. So much of that is thanks to you and your drive and determination to finish this semester strong. As always, if any of you need anything or have any questions, please reach out.

C.O. PILOTS

We hope you are all doing well! We look forward to a time when we can all get together and enjoy the monthly student events! In the meantime, take care of yourselves and stay safe! If you need anything at all, reach out to your C.O. Pilot!

Safety

Thank you for everyone's hard work in making sure we can continue to safely operate during the current pandemic. As most everyone knows, we have implemented many additional steps to ensure we all stay healthy. Aircraft are being thoroughly cleaned between every flight, all employees and students are taking their temperature when entering the hangar, back seat flights and intro flights have been cancelled for the time being and group sizes are being limited. This has taken a concerted effort by everyone. Thank you for all the hard work. Stay safe and keep the birds in the air!

Aviation Advising

Maintenance Team

This has been a great semester for all of you taking care of our aircraft and equipment, thank you very much! We only have a couple more weeks left. Let's finish strong, and show the world we can accomplish some big goals in the midst of a difficult global situation.

Aviation Academics

We are finalizing a new BS Degree in Aviation Leadership and Management. It will include a formal Minor from the School of Business, four new courses from the Deming Institute, and the following new PILT courses:

- Airport Management
- FBO Management
- Corporate Flight Department Management
- Airline Management

An online version of the Aerodynamics PILT 2250 course is being developed that will likely be offered in the fall.

AMT Program

The maintenance school recently received approval to teach general courses online. This will be offered for the coming summer semester.
