Music Masterworks Series presents the Spring Wind Symphony Concert

(Southern Utah University, Cedar City, UT) The Department of Music will present the Spring Wind Symphony Concert as the final performance in the Music Masterworks Series, Friday, April 24, 2009 at 7:30 p.m., in the Heritage Center Theater. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling 435-586-7878.

Dr. Mark Stickney will conduct this musical journey beginning in Europe with March, written by Paul Hindemith and Four Scottish Dances written by England's Sir Malcolm Arnold. After this tour around Germany and Great Brittan, settle in with music from the homeland.

The second half of this concert will feature American composers Jack Stemp, David R. Gillingham and Robert W. Smith. The Wind Symphony will perform their songs, Pastime (A Salute to Baseball), Fosters America, a Suite of Stephen Foster Songs and Push. Push is a kinetic work that employs a two-note motive, a rising figure and a lyrical melody to musically embody the word "push".
