

Optimism Bias

Some may refer to this as looking through rose-colored glasses.

Humans tend to overestimate the likelihood of positive events and underestimate the likelihood of adverse events. People believe that they, themselves, are less likely to experience an adverse event.

It is an attitude of “accidents happen to other people, but won’t happen to me”.

OPTIMISM
BIAS