

Snow College Transfer Pathway: Biology

The following is a sample outline demonstrating a potential transfer pathway for this degree. It involves two years and the opportunity to earn an Associate's Degree at Snow College, followed by the completion of the Bachelor's Degree at Southern Utah University.

*PLEASE NOTE This is simply a guide to the recommended courses, and the ideal order in which they should be taken. Every degree will be different, as each student's needs are different. It is critical to work with advisors both at Snow College and at Southern Utah University to determine the best pathway for each student.

Important Notes:

*See catalog or an advisor for options

- This template primarily reflects a Biology student going into the medical field. If a student is not planning for this, they are welcome to spread out chemistry and/or math and move courses like Microbiology and Genetics up.

- Students who do not complete their Associates Degree from Snow will be required to complete two additional course at SUU for their General Education requirements; namely CSIS 1000 and LM 1010. They will not, however, be required to take an Oral Communications or a Fitness and Wellness course at SUU as a GE requirement.

- Students following this plan should speak with an SUU Student Success Advisor at the beginning of their 4th semester to coordinate 5th semester registration and a smooth transition into SUU's curriculum.
