

Snow College Transfer Pathway: Mathematics - Pure Math Emphasis

The following is a sample outline demonstrating a potential transfer pathway for this degree. It involves two years and the opportunity to earn an Associate's Degree at Snow College, followed by the completion of the Bachelor's Degree at Southern Utah University.

*PLEASE NOTE This is simply a guide to the recommended courses, and the ideal order in which they should be taken. Every degree will be different, as each student's needs are different. It is critical to work with advisors both at Snow College and at Southern Utah University to determine the best pathway for each student.

Important Notes:

* These courses have many options to choose from. See the Catalog or your Advisor for options.

 PHYS 2210/2215 is the recommended Physical Science GE for Math majors, especially those who may seek graduate degrees. For the Associate's Degree purpose, however, you may choose any Physical Science GE option.

- Students who do not complete their full Associate's Degree at Snow College will be required to complete two additional courses at SUU for their General Education requirement, CSIS 1000 and LM 1010. They will not, however, be required to take an Oral Communication or a Fitness/Wellness course at SUU as a GE requirement.

- Students following this plan should speak with an SUU Student Success Advisor at the beginning of their 4th semester to coordinate 5th semester registration and a smooth transition into SUU's curriculum.
