

iTheatrics with
Marty Johnson

Southern Utah University is offering this hands-on workshop where you will learn best practices in creating a successful musical theatre production within your school community.

Broadway Junior Professional Development Workshops

Make A Musical!

Come work with NYC iTheatrics' Marty Johnson, director, teacher, and playwright. Marty directs pilot productions of Broadway plays that are adapted for elementary and high schools.

Each year 3,000 children come from all over the country to audition for a chance to perform in the video productions that are used in schools across America.
