

Dr. Ping,

You asked me a while back to keep you posted on my plans after graduation for your department's records. I will be matriculating at the University of Central Florida College of Medicine this fall. They appear to value a somewhat eclectic mix of students, and I'm confident that my degree from your department had something to do with my acceptance to that very competitive school.

Thank you again for all of your help over the years. I wish I could have taken a few more of your classes, and I still regularly re-read my notes as I work on filling out the project I started for my senior research thesis.

Nathan Esplin