

SUU Volleyball National Breast Cancer Fundraiser

EDGE PROJECT

Jami Jackson

Community

Spring 2013

Project Summary

For my project, I raised money for the National Breast Cancer Foundation. I raised money by completing a donation service through the SUU Volleyball team. I made a commitment form and took it around to local Cedar City businesses to commit to a specific donation amount for every bump, spike, and set the SUU volleyball team made in their last 4 home games of November. I planned a “pink game” November 17 where everyone wore pink and I set out donation cans outside every SUU Centrum entrance. At the end of November, I took the statistics from each game back to the businesses and collected the money they vouched to pay. I sent the money in a check to the National Breast Cancer Foundation.

I raised a total of $500 and had some wonderful experiences serving my community and helping out others.

Project Highlights

- Raised a total of $500 dollars for the National Breast Cancer Foundation.
- Met an amazing person who was really touched about my project and goals.
- Learned how to delegate and plan events.
- Meet and work with the SUU Volleyball team!

From My Journal

“I went into Outback Oasis today to raise donations and sign commitment forms. I met the manager who loved what I was doing. We talked for a while when she started to tell me about her mother and her struggles with ovarian cancer. She talked about all the work her family had to do to be able to pay the bills and how they are still paying on it. I feel so much closer to her and really feel like I have made a friend. Being rejected the past couple days has been made up from my experience today. Love that I am helping someone and others who really need it.”

SUU Volleyball’s star outside hitter Anna Mailoto and recruited freshman Taylor Heine passing out Breast Cancer brochures and putting out donation cans for the “pink game” on November 17.

Making the donation jars that were placed outside the entrances of the SUU Centrum for the volleyball games. I placed ribbon on them along with a stand up to let people know what they were donating to.