

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES + SOCIAL SCIENCES SENATOR

My name is Brandon Walton, I am a sophomore studying Psychology with a minor in Family Services and Philosophy, and I am running for the position of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences Senator. When I started as a student at SUU two years ago, I had the honor of making my home and place here on campus through my leadership opportunities, primarily within SUUSA and STIL. I began as an Involvement Captain, making campus home by attending and supporting events, making lasting connections with my peers, and developing my leadership skills. My sophomore year, I became an Involvement Captain Director, granting me the opportunity to further my leadership skills through planning events and recruitment, as well as allowing me further outreach to make connections and listen to the issues that faced those who looked up to me as a mentor.

Throughout my different leadership roles and experiences, I have had the opportunity to hear many of the issues that face our current student body via interactions with fellow students and the different organizations I have worked with. I want to use my time in this position to help students in their lives and academics by improving the campus that we call home via promoting the resources and encouraging campus to play a larger role in supporting students. I have a few different goals in pursuit of this desire.

- Bring Campus a Step Toward Students: I want to collaborate with the resource centers on campus and promote more outreach to students in an effort to create a campus where the resources will go to the students.
- Support the Resources: I want to promote the expansion and funding of resources tailored for student mental and physical health. This, in combination with the last point, will create a campus where students are best prepared for academic success.
- Provide More Opportunities: I want to work with my department in order to create more opportunities for students' success in their career via increased involvement from events and access to resources.

I am so excited to see the future of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences and support its students.
